Some of the most important factors in the development of the human brain are the environment and the experiences that the child has. The brain is a complex organ that is constantly changing and adapting to the world around it. The environment plays a crucial role in the development of the brain, as it provides the child with the stimuli and experiences that are necessary for the brain to grow and develop. The experiences that the child has, such as the quality of the parent-child relationship, the child's social interactions, and the child's exposure to various environments, all contribute to the development of the brain. The brain is a remarkable organ that is capable of incredible feats of learning and adaptation, and the environment and experiences that the child has are the key factors that determine the brain's development.

Louis, b. 1870.—Antoinette.—Family.—Agnes Nancy.

The family of Turing, originally French, settled in the barony of Tourin, in Forfarshire, which they held for several generations. Sir William Turyn attached himself to the fortunes of King David II., and shared that monarch's exile; his loyalty was however subsequently rewarded by a grant of the barony of Foreran, in Almondshire, which his descendants held more than 300 years. The right to this barony was sustained by the Lyon Office in 1822 to Sir Robert Fraser Turing, 8th Bt., and by a Committee of the Privy Council in 1912.

The 1st baronet, Sir Matthew Wood, born 1767, was the son of a serge manufacturer, of Tiverton, and at eleven years of age worked in his father's factory. At fourteen he was apprenticed to Mr Newton, druggist, at Exeter. After serving seven years, he became a traveller in the drug trade, and subsequently established himself in London as a chemist. He afterwards became a hop-merchant, and was chosen Alderman, served as a Sheriff, and in the year of the Peace, 1815, was elected Lord Mayor of London, to which office he was re-elected the following year. He also sat as M.P. for London (L) 1816-43. During his mayoralty he was bold and fearless. On one occasion, after a lawless mob had shot a man on Snow Hill, and were approaching the Exchange, he, with only seven others, rushed through that building, and held the rioters in check, while he arrested several of the ringleaders. He took an active part in the case of Queen Caroline. He accompanied her through Calais and Dover, on her journey to London in 1820, and placed his house in South Andley Street at her disposal. His fortune was, after much litigation, augmented on the death of Jenny Wood, the banker, of Gloucester, to the extent of £350,000. Among these possessions was the estate of Hatherley Court, in Gloucestershire, a fine old ivy-mantled mansion, and from its name his second son, William Page, who was Lord High Chancellor 1868-72, selected his title.

THE KNIGHTAGE AND COMPANIONAGE. ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD, ETC.

CENTRAL CHANCERY OF ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, St. James's Palace, S.W.

Secretary and Registrar—The Comptroller of the Lord Chamberlain's Ceremonial Department.

The Insignia of the lower class of an Order should on promotion of the recipient to a higher class be returned to the Central Chancery, except in the cases of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, which should be returned to the Chancery of the Order at Downing Street, and of the Royal Victorian Order, which should be sent to the Secretary of that Order, Buckingham Palace, S.W., and recipients of the Indian Orders resident in India, who return theirs to the Secretary of that Order in India.

KNIGHTS of the GARTER, THISTLE, and ST. PATRICK, and KNIGHTS GRAND CROSS or GRAND COMMANDER of the various Orders wear their Collars only on special festival days, or when commanded by the Sovereign. These are tied on the shoulder with white satin bows $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch wide. The collar and ribbon of an Order are never worn together. When a Knight of this degree possesses more than one Order, only one Collar should be worn at a time, but the ribbon and Badge of the second Order may be worn with it.

When a Knight is entitled to more than one Star, if two, they should be placed immediately above one another, that of the senior order being at the top; if, however, there are three Stars, the senior one should be above, and the other two should be placed side by side underneath; in the case of four Stars, they are worn one, two, and one.

MEMBERS of the ORDER OF MERIT, COMPANIONS OF HONOUR, COMPANIONS OF ORDERS OF THE BATH, STAR OF INDIA, ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE, and INDIAN EMPIRE, and COMMANDERS of the ROYAL VICTORIAN ORDER and of the ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE wear ribbon and Badge in the same way as Knights Commanders. Ladies who are COMMANDERS of the BRITISH EMPIRE Order wear the Badge attached to a Bow on the left side of the coat or dress.

OFFICERS and MEMBERS of the BRITISH EMPIRE Order (both ladies and gentlemen) wear the Badge on the left breast of the coat or dress.

NECK BADGES—With uniform only the senior is worn round the neck, the others in order one below the other between the buttons. In evening dress the senior (or that most appropriate to the occasion) is worn round the neck, the remainder it is permissible to wear in miniature (except O.M. and C.H., never worn in miniature) on the coat lapel.

Miniature Insignia of Knights Grand Cross and Knights Commanders are only worn in accordance with Army Regulation, and there is no miniature for Commanders of the Royal Victorian Order.

Insignia, Decorations and Medals may be worn with morning dress on official occasions and at public functions. The Ribbons of the Orders, Decorations and Medals may be worn on all occasions at the discretion of the holder.

THE MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

The Order of the Garter, constituted by King Edward III., about August 1348, has, since June 28th, 1831, consisted of the Sovereign and twenty-five Knight Companions, such lineal descendants of King George I., as may have been elected, and of Sovereigns and extra Knights who have been admitted by special statutes. The Prince of Wales is a constituent part of the original institution. The Habit and nearest male relative, the Collar (with pendant Badge) and Garter being returned to the Central Chancery. The Chapel of St George, Windsor Castle, is the chapel of the Order.

Ensigns of the Order are (i) A GARTER of dark blue velvet, edged with gold, bearing the motto, Honi soit qui mal y pense, in gold letters, with buckle and pendant of gold, richly chased. [It is worn on the left leg, below the knee.] (ii) A MANTLE of dark blue velvet lined with white taffeta, with a representation of the Garter encircling the Cross of St George on an escutcheon argent embroidered on the left shoulder, the Sovereign having the star. (iii) A HOOD of crimson velvet. (iv) A SURCOAT of crimson velvet, lined with white taffeta. (v) A HAT of black velvet, lined with white taffeta, and fastened thereto by a band of diamonds, a plume of white ostrich feathers, in the centre of which a tuft of black heron's feathers. (vi) A COLLAR of gold (weighing thirty ounces, troy) consisting of twenty four pieces, each in the form of a Garter surrounding the Tudor Rose, connected by twenty-four knots of chased gold, and pendent thereto (vii) the GEORGE, an enamelled figure of St George on horseback, encountering the dragon. (viii) The LESSER GEORGE or BADGE of gold is worn pendent from a four inch blue ribbon over the left shoulder. (ix) The STAR of eight points of silver, in the centre the Cross of St George gules, encircled with the Garter. At death the Badge and Star are delivered up to His Majesty by the Knight's

THE MOST ANCIENT AND MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE THISTLE.

The Order of the Thistle, said to have been founded by King Achaius, was revived by King James II. in 1687, and re-established by Queen Anne, Dec 31st, 1703. It consists of the Sovereign and sixteen Knights. The insignia are (i) the STAR, consisting of a St. Andrew's cross of silver embroidery with rays emanating between the points of the cross; in the centre upon a field of gold, a Thistle of green, heightened with gold, and surrounded by a circle of green, having thereon the motto in letters of gold, Nemo me impune facessit. [(i) It is worn affixed to the left breast.] (ii) The COLLAR of gold consists of thistles intermingled with sprigs of rue, pendant from the centre the St. Andrew of gold enamelled, with the gown green and the surcoat purple, bearing before him the cross enamelled white, and having round the image rays of gold going out from it in the form of a glory. (iii) The MANTLE is of green velvet bound with taffeta and tied with cords and tassels of green and gold; on the left

THE MOST ILLUSTRIOUS ORDER OF ST. PATRICK.

The Order of St. Patrick, instituted by King George III., Feb. 5th, 1783, and revised 1905, consists of the Sovereign, and twenty-two Knights; also certain Extra and Honorary Knights. The Insignia are (i) the STAR of silver, consisting of eight points—that is to say, four greater and four lesser issuing COLLAR, of pure gold, is composed of seven roses and six harps alternately, each tied together with a knot of gold, the roses being enamelled alternately, white leaves within red and red leaves within white, and in the centre an Imperial Crown, surmounting a harp of gold, from which is pendent (iv) the BADGE of gold is officially described as oval (but there are several circular specimens in existence);

a circle of sky blue enamel (sometimes in practice gold), with the motto of the Order, Qui separat MDCCCXXXIII thereon in letters of gold, the whole enclosed in a wreath of trefoils enamelled in their proper colours on a gold ground. The Badge is removed from the chain when it is worn with the ribbon of the Order, which is sky blue four inches wide. The Grand Master and one of the Order use one two inches wide. At death the Collar (with Badge pendant), and the Star of Knights invested after 1878, are delivered up by the Knight's nearest male relative to the Sovereign of the Order. There is no Chapel of the Order, but for the Disestablishment of the Irish Church Investitures took place in St Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin; now they are held in St Patrick's Hall, Dublin Castle.

The ceremony of investiture is as follows. The two Junior Knights conduct the Knight elect to the Sovereign's presence. The Chancellor of the Order reads over to him the declaration, the Knight elect repeating it sentence by sentence. He then signs the Register and kneels down, when the Sovereign, assisted by the two Senior Knights present, places over the new Knight's right shoulder the ribbon with badge, reading the admonition. After kissing hands the Knight rises and is girded with the sword, the Chancellor pronouncing an admonition. He is next robed with the Mantle, a further admonition being read by the Chancellor. The new Knight's banner is then unfurled, and, after a flourish of trumpets, Ulster King of Arms declares the new Knight's title, the Sovereign shakes his hand, and Ulster conducts him to his seat.

THE MOST HONOURABLE ORDER OF THE BATH

The Order of the Bath was instituted in 1399. After the time of Charles II it fell into decay, and remained obsolete until it was revived by George I in 1725. The provisions of the Order were enlarged in 1815 and further extended in 1847, when new statutes regarding appointments to the Order were promulgated and the Civil branch of the Order established; the statutes were subsequently modified in 1905 and 1912. Under date of July 1925, all former statutes were repealed, and revised and consolidated statutes and ordinances were promulgated. In accordance with these, the Order consists of three classes, each comprising two divisions (military and civil): (i) KNIGHTS GRAND CROSS (38 military and 28 civil), exclusive of the Sovereign, the Great Master, Princes of the Blood Royal, and distinguished foreigners who may be nominated to the honorary distinction, and any additional members who may be appointed. These Knights are entitled to receive a grant of supporters to their armorial bearings. (ii) KNIGHTS COMMANDERS (157 military and 116 civil), exclusive of honorary and additional Knights Commanders. Each Knight of the Order is entitled to the distinctive appellation of knighthood after he has been invested with the insignia. (iii) COMPANIONS (717 military and 353 civil). The Military division is open to officers of the Navy, Army, and Air Force.

The Insignia are (i) the COLLAR of gold (weighing thirty ounces troy), composed of nine Imperial Crowns or and eight roses, thistles, and shamrocks, issuing from a gold sceptre, and enamelled in their proper colour, linked together with seventeen knots enamelled argent, and having pendant therefrom the Badge of the Order. (ii) The MILITARY KNIGHT GRAND CROSS STAR is formed of rays of silver, charged with a Maltese cross or, in the centre whereof on a ground argent three Imperial Crowns, one and two or, the said three Imperial Crowns within a circle gules inscribed with the motto of the Order, Tria funt in uno, in letters of gold, and the said circle encompassed by two branches of laurel proper, issuant from an escrol azure inscribed Ich dien in letters of gold. (iii) CIVIL KNIGHT GRAND CROSS STAR is of rays of silver issuing from a centre and charged with three Imperial Crowns, one and two within a circle gules whereon inscribed the motto of the Order in gold. The Collar and Badge are returned at death to the General Chancery, but not so the investment Badge and Star. (iv) MILITARY KNIGHT COMMANDER'S STAR is composed of four rays of silver, between each of which is a smaller rose also of silver, and has the same centre as the Knight's Grand

Cross, but without a gold Maltese cross thereon. (v) CIVIL KNIGHT COMMANDER'S STAR is of the same form and size, but without a laurel wreath round the circle containing the motto and the escrol, and without the words Ich dien underneath [The Crowns in the Stars, which formerly were of different designs

THE MOST EXALTED ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

The Order of the Star of India was instituted by Queen Victoria in 1861, and enlarged 1866, 1875, 1876, 1897, 1902, 1911, 1915, 1920, and 1927, and the dignity of Knight Grand Commander may be conferred on Princes or Chiefs of India, or upon British subjects for important and loyal service rendered to the Indian Empire; the second and third classes for services in the Indian Empire of not less than thirty years in the department of the Sec. of State for India. It consists of the Sovereign, a Grand Master (the Viceroy of India), the first class of forty-four Knights Grand Commanders (22 British and 22 Indian), the second class of one hundred Knights Commanders, and the third class of two hundred and twenty-five Companions, exclusive of Extra and Honorary Members, as well as certain additional Knights and Companions.

The Insignia are (i) the COLLAR of gold, composed of the lotus of India, of palm branches tied together in saltire, of the united red and white rose, and in the centre an Imperial Crown; all enamelled in their proper colours and linked together by gold chains. (ii) The STAR of a KNIGHT GRAND COMMANDER is composed of rays of gold issuing from a centre, having thereon a star of five points in diamonds resting upon a light blue enamelled circular ribband, tied at the ends and inscribed with the motto of the Order, Heaven's Light our Guide, also, in diamonds. That of a Knight Commander is somewhat different, and is described below. (iii) The BANNER, an onyx cameo having Her Majesty Queen Victoria's Royal effigy thereon, set in a perforated and enamelled oval, containing the motto of the Order surmounted by a star of five points in diamonds.

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN ORDER.

This Order, instituted by H.M. Queen Victoria, Empress of India, April 21st, 1896, consists of the Sovereign, Ordinary Members, and such Honorary Members as the Sovereign shall from time to time appoint, the Members being divided into five classes, and designated respectively: (1) Knights Grand Cross, (2) Knights Commanders, (3) Commanders, (4) Members of the Fourth Class, and (5) Members of the Fifth Class.

Royal Victorian Order

The persons to be admitted as Ordinary Members of this Order shall be such persons, being subjects of the British Crown, who, having rendered extraordinary, or important, or personal service to the Sovereign, merit Royal favour; and the Honorary Members of the several classes consist of those Foreign Princes and persons upon whom the Sovereign may think fit to confer the honour of being received into the Order.

The Members of the several grades in the Order are to have place and precedence as follows:—the Knights Grand Cross, Knights Commanders, and Commanders next to and immediately after the Knights Grand Commanders and Knights Commanders of the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire; the Members of the Fourth Class after the Companions of the said Most Eminent Order, and the Members of the Fifth Class after the Companions of the Distinguished Service Order.

The number of the Members is unlimited, and the anniversary of the Order is the Twentieth day of June every year, being the day of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria's Accession to the Throne of these Realms.

two inches in width, the edging of the collar being half an inch wide, lined with white silk, the mantle being fastened by a cordon of dark blue silk and gold, having two dark blue ribbons attached thereto; on the left side of the mantle specifying the numbers of each of these Classes that may be appointed in a given period;

also Officers (Military not more than 49 in any year, Civil not more than 160 in any year); and Members (Military not more than 68 in any year, Civil not more than 240 in any year).

The above-mentioned limitation does not affect those already admitted to the Order prior to December 29th, 1922, who are not to be included within the foregoing numbers allotted to each Class of the Order.

Appointments are made on the recommendation of the First Lord of the Admiralty, the Secretary of State for War, the Secretary of State for Air, and the Secretary of State for the Colonies as regards the Military Division, and the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Secretary of State for India, and the Secretary of State for the Colonies as regards the Civil Division.

This Order ranks next to and immediately after the Royal Victorian Order; Knights

Grand Cross have place and precedence next to and immediately after the Knights Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order; Dames Grand Cross next to and immediately before the wives of Knights Grand Cross of the Bath, and may use the appellation and style of Dame before their Christian or first names; the Knights Commanders have place and precedence next to and immediately after the Knights Commanders of the Royal Victorian Order; Dames Commanders next to and immediately before the wives of Knights Commanders of the Bath, and may use the appellation and style of Dame before their Christian or first names; men who are Commanders have place and precedence next to and immediately after the Members of the Third Class of the Royal Victorian Order and women who are Commanders next to and immediately before the Wives of Companions of the Bath; men who are Officers have place and precedence next to and immediately after the Members of the Fourth Class of the Royal Victorian Order and women who are Officers next to and immediately before the wives of Members of the Fourth Class of the Royal Victorian Order; men who are Members have place and precedence next to and immediately after the Members of the Fifth Class of the Royal Victorian Order, and women who are Members next to and immediately before the wives of Members of the Fifth Class of the Royal Victorian Order

Knights and Dames Grand Cross wear the badge of the Order, which shall consist of a cross pattée, enamelled pearl, fimbriated or, surmounted by a gold medallion with a representation of Britannia seated within a circle gules inscribed with the motto, "For God and the Empire," in letters of gold ensigned with the Imperial Crown or, the whole suspended from a purple riband of the breadth of three inches and three-quarters for Knights Grand Cross, and two inches and a quarter for Dames Grand Cross, passing from the right shoulder to the left side, and on the left side of their coats or outer garments an oval Star (that for Dames being somewhat smaller than that worn by Knights), composed of eight points and charged with a medallion as above. There is no Collar to this Order.

Knights Commanders wear around their necks a riband of the same colour and pattern as that of Knights Grand Cross of the breadth of one inch and three-quarters and pendent therefrom the badge of the Knights Commanders of the Order, which shall be of similar form and pattern to that appointed for Knights Grand Cross, but of smaller size, and also wear on the left side of their coats or outer garments a silver Star composed of four equal points and four lesser, charged with a medallion as before, while Dames Commanders wear a badge of similar form and pattern as that appointed for Knights Commanders, attached to a riband, also similar to that worn by Knights Commanders, but tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder, and they wear a like Star.

Commanders in the same manner wear the like riband and badge as that appointed for Knights or Dames Commanders, but are not entitled to wear the Star.

Officers wear a badge of similar form and pattern as that appointed for Commanders, but of a smaller size and silver gilt, attached to a riband of the same colour and pattern of the breadth of one inch and a half, attached to the left breast of their coats or outer garments by men, and tied in a bow on the left shoulder by women.

Members wear in like manner the same riband and badge as that appointed to Officers except that it is in silver.

There are both Military and Civil Divisions of this Order; the Insignia for both is the same, but the Ribbon of the Military Division is distinguished by a narrow vertical red stripe in the centre which varies in width according to Class.

The Insignia of all classes are, on promotion from a lower to a higher class, and from a lower class in one Division to a higher in the other (except when awarded for Military Service in the War 1914-18), to be returned to the Registrar, but not at death except by Officials of the Order.

[There are medals in connection with the Order which may be awarded to persons not Members of any of the five classes]

ORDER OF THE COMPANIONS OF HONOUR.

Instituted on June 4th, 1917, consists of the Sovereign and not more than 50 Members; it may be conferred on persons (women being eligible equally with men) for having done conspicuous national service, and for whom the distinction is deemed the most appropriate form of recognition, constituting as it does an honour dissociated either from acceptance of title or the classification of merit, and carrying with it no title or precedence, but recipients are permitted to put the initials "C H" after their names, these being placed subsequent to the initials "G B E." The Badge of the Order is oval, and consists of a gold medallion with representation of an oak tree and pendant from a branch a shield of the Royal Arms, on the dexter a representation of a knight armed and in armour, mounted on a horse, the whole within a circle inscribed with the motto "In action faithful and in honour clear" in letters of gold ensigned with the Imperial Crown proper. Men suspend it around their necks from a carmine riband 1½ inches wide with a bordure interlaced gold, women wear it attached to a similar riband tied in a bow on the left shoulder. It is never worn in miniature, and is not returnable at death. A representation of the Badge may be suspended from an escutcheon of armorial bearings.

THE VICTORIA CROSS.

The Victoria Cross Decoration was instituted January 29th, 1856, for the purpose of signalling special individual act of bravery. It may be conferred upon those holding any rank in the Naval or Military Services, and carries with it a pension of £10 to non-commissioned officers and men. The Badge consists of a bronze cross patée with the Royal Crown in the centre and underneath a scroll bearing the inscription "For Valour." Additional acts of bravery are recorded by extra bars affixed to the ribbon (an inch and a half in width) suspending the Cross, the colour of which is red. In undress uniform a miniature replica of the actual cross is worn, any bars gained being indicated by additional miniature crosses on the ribbon; each extra bar carries an additional £5 per annum. Recipients place "V.C." after their names. It was extended in 1911 to include the native officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the Indian Army, the pension being for officers 525 and 150 rupees for Cross and additional bars respectively, while for non-commissioned officers and men it is 150 and 75 rupees respectively. In June 1920 the award of the Victoria Cross was extended to include women, and Matrons, Sisters, Nurses and the Staff of Nursing Services and other services pertaining to Hospitals and Nursing and Civilians of either sex serving regularly or temporarily under the orders, direction, or supervision of the Naval, Military, and Air Forces of the Empire, are now eligible.

THE MILITARY CROSS.

The Military Cross was instituted as a Decoration on December 28th, 1914, to reward distinguished services rendered by Officers of certain ranks in the Army in time of War. It consists of a cross of silver, having on each arm the Imperial Crown, and bearing in the centre the Royal and Imperial Cypher. No person is eligible for this Decoration unless he is a Captain, a Temporary Major, an Acting or Temporary Chaplain (3rd class), a Commissioned Officer of a lower grade, or a Warrant Officer (Class I. and Class II.) in any of the Military Forces of the Crown, but Foreign Officers of an equivalent rank who have been associated in military operations with the above-mentioned Forces are eligible for the award. Bars may be added for additional Acts of gallantry; these are indicated in undress uniform by small silver rosettes worn on the ribbon. Since August 1st, 1918, it has been awarded for "services in action" only, i.e. (1) for service under fire, (2) distinguished individual service in connection with air raids, bombardments, or other enemy action.

The Military Cross is worn immediately after all Orders and before all Decorations and Medals (the Victoria Cross alone excepted), and is worn on the left breast pendant from a ribbon one inch and three eighths in width, the colour of which is white with a purple stripe. The Decoration confers no special precedence, but entitles the recipient to the letters "M.C." after his name.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

This Naval Decoration (formerly known as the Conspicuous Service Cross, and instituted in June 1901) has since October 1914 been awarded for services before the enemy to Officers of the Royal Navy below the rank of Lieut.-Com., as well as to Warrant Officers, Acting Warrant Officers, and Subordinate Officers previously eligible. The Distinguished Service Cross consists of a Silver Cross, with the reverse side plain, but having on the obverse side in the centre the Imperial and Royal Cypher, surmounted by the Imperial Crown. The letters "D.S.C." are placed after the name of the recipient.

THE IMPERIAL SERVICE ORDER.

This Order was instituted by King Edward VII. on August 8th, 1902 (and extended June 1909, March 1912, and Jan 1926), with a view of recognising faithful and meritorious service rendered by members (both male and female) of the administrative and clerical branches of the Civil Services of the various parts of the Empire. It now consists of the Sovereign, the Prince of Wales, and not more than 700 Companions (250 for the Home Civil Service, 200 for the Civil

Imperial Service Order

Secretary and Registrar—Robert Froding Reynard, Esq., I.S.O.

The MANTLE OF A BAILIFF GRAND CROSS OR KNIGHT OF JUSTICE is of black and fastened by a cord of black silk having two tassels of the same material; on the left side is a Maltese cross of white linen 12 inches in diameter, having in the angles lions and unicorns embroidered in gold-coloured silk. Such other members of the Order as are also members of Chapter-General wear mantles of black merino with certain distinctions in the badge.

The BADGE OF THE BAILIFFS GRAND CROSS AND DAMES GRAND CROSS consists of a gold Maltese cross of eight points, enamelled argent, embellished in the four principal angles alternately with a lion passant guardant and a unicorn passant, all of gold. It is worn pendant from a four-inch black watered silk riband across the right shoulder to the left side.

The STAR OF THE BAILIFFS GRAND CROSS is a plain Maltese Cross, enamelled argent and set in gold, and three and five-eighths inches in diameter; it is not worn by the Dames Grand Cross.

KNIGHTS OF JUSTICE wear the same badge as Bailiffs Grand Cross, but slightly smaller, suspended from a two-inch riband of black watered silk round the neck. They wear the same Star as the Bailiffs Grand Cross, but only three inches in diameter. KNIGHTS OF GRACE wear the same badge as Knights of Justice, substituting silver for gold, and their Star is identical with their badge. DAMES OF JUSTICE and OF GRACE wear similar badges, but smaller, on the left shoulder tied to the riband tied in a bow; they do not wear the star.

CHAPLAINS wear the same riband and badge as Knights of Justice, slightly smaller, in the same manner, but do not wear the star.

COMMANDERS wear the same riband and badge as Knights of Grace, slightly smaller, in the same manner, but do not wear the star; ladies wear the badge suspended from a bow.

OFFICERS wear a badge of the same form as the Commanders, but entirely of silver, on the left breast suspended from a black watered silk riband; ladies wear it suspended from a bow.

SERVING BROTHERS AND SISTERS wear their badges in the same manner as Officers; they are circular, having the badge of the Order, embellished in silver, on a black ground.

The Order of St. John issues a Life Saving Medal in gold, silver, and bronze; also a Service Medal for conspicuous service to the Order.

BAR TO D.F.C.

THE DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS.

This Decoration has a purple and white ribbon (one inch and a quarter in width, of violet and white alternate diagonal stripes each one-eighth of an inch wide running at an angle of 45 degrees, and showing in the top left-hand and bottom right-hand corners triangles of violet of equal dimensions); it is awarded to Officers and Warrant Officers for acts of gallantry when flying in active operations against the enemy. The letters "D.F.C." are placed after the name of the recipient.

BAR TO A.F.C.

THE AIR FORCE CROSS.

This Decoration has a red and white ribbon one inch and a quarter in width, of red and white alternate diagonal stripes, each one-eighth of an inch wide running at an angle of 45 degrees, and showing in the top left-hand and bottom right-hand corners triangles of red of equal dimensions; it is awarded to Officers and Warrant Officers for acts of courage or devotion to duty when flying, although not in active operations against the enemy, and also to individuals not belonging to the Air Force (whether Naval, Military, or Civil) who render service to aviation by actual flying. The letters "A.F.C." are placed after the name of the recipient.

THE KAISAR-I-HIND MEDAL.

This Decoration, which was instituted by Queen Victoria in 1900, and amended in 1901 and 1912, is bestowed for the rendering of public service in India, without distinction of race or sex, and consists of two classes, the medal being of gold for the First Class (awarded by the Sec. of State for India), and of silver for the Second (on recommendation of the Gov.-Gen. of India). It consists of an oval shaped Badge with Royal Cipher in the centre on one side, and the words "Kaisar-i-Hind, for Public Service in India" on the other; extra bars are granted for additional services.

THE VENERABLE ORDER OF THE HOSPITAL OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM.

ST JOHN'S GATE, CLERKENWELL, E.C.1.

This Order received a Royal Charter from H.M. Queen Victoria on May 14th, 1888, under the style and title of "The Grand Prior of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem." The Charter was granted to establish Priories in any part of the British Dominions. A further Royal Charter was granted in 1926, bestowing upon the Order the title of "Venerable," altering the words "Grand Prior" to "Grand Master," and dividing the Order into three grades, and restoring the Order in 1939.

THE KNIGHTAGE.

*. For WIDOWS OF KNIGHTS, see page 1294.

Names of Peers and Baronets who have received the honour of Knighthood will not be found in this list, but are arranged alphabetically in their respective sections.

A list of the Knights of the Garter, Thistle, and St. Patrick is given separately on a preceding page, also Lists of Members of the Order of Merit and Companions of Honour.

Particulars concerning Indian gentlemen appear under the initial letter of the first component part of their names, or under their territorial title.

This list includes Dames of the British Empire and recipients of the Royal Victorian Chain not elsewhere referred to, but not as a rule Honorary Knights.
